PERFORMANCE PAVILION

A photograph of a modern architectural structure made of vertical wooden slats, set in a park with a soccer field and a hill in the background. The structure is composed of numerous vertical wooden slats that are slightly curved and arranged in a way that creates a sense of depth and movement. The slats are light-colored wood, and the structure is set on a paved area with a checkered pattern. In the background, there is a green soccer field, a line of trees, and a large, rocky hill under a clear blue sky. The overall scene is bright and sunny, suggesting a clear day.
